

Web Developer

Applied

Central London, partially remote if you like

Application deadline: Mon 5th Sep at 10:00am BST

Salary: £40-50k p/a plus equity

Apply for the role (no CV required) here -
<https://www.beapplied.com/apply/I2IZJyruif>

Applied is a platform developed by the Behavioural Insights Team and Nesta which aims to make recruitment smart, fair and easy. We're looking for a Web Developer to help us make hiring better.

As we scale our mission is to eliminate poor decision making, waste, and bias from hiring, making the workplace fairer and more productive.

As a developer on our team, you'll take primary ownership of delivering some of our product goals. You'll need to be capable on the front-end, and you'll have the opportunity to delve into as much of the back end development as you're comfortable with.

Depending on experience or enthusiasm you'd also be able to contribute (as well as learn) in other areas, such as product design, visual design, data science or marketing.

Requirements:

- HTML & CSS
- JavaScript
- Comfort with early stage products, i.e. uncertainty & responsibility
- Empathy & communication skills
- Diligence

Entirely optional, but may be useful:

- Node.js
- Elasticsearch
- Databases (we use Postgres)
- An interest in evidence-based approaches
- Data visualisation (we mostly use D3)

Apply for the role (no CV required) here - <https://www.beapplied.com/apply/121ZJyui6>